

Scott Anderson is a skilled residential architect with 20 years of experience and a thriving practice in Charleston, S.C. The Anderson Studio of Architecture and Design provides the hands-on approach and one-on-one attention of a small firm, while offering the expertise, understanding and capabilities of larger architecture firms. Attention to detail and the ability to translate the visions of their clients has resulted in a distinctive portfolio of fine residential homes that elevates the business of building to the fine art of architecture.

Anderson's primary project-focus has been in South Carolina, in Charleston and on Kiawah Island, however, the Anderson Studio has projects on the island of St. Kitts in the British West Indies.
